

RESEARCH PATHWAYS

DIGITAL STUDIES

Undergraduate research is a cornerstone of our mission at Rutgers–Camden. Our goal is to provide as much support as possible for you to have a successful research experience.

Need funding for a research project or conference travel experience?

We encourage you to visit go.rutgers.edu/ug-grants to see what funding opportunities are available. Currently, you can receive up to $500.00 to offset research expenses and conference travel expenses.

Looking for a research project?

If you know you want to get involved in research, but are unsure of where to start, visit go.rutgers.edu/curca-hub to view by subject area and keyword the different research projects seeking undergraduate researchers. Current projects listed on the hub that are geared toward digital studies students include:

- » "Well-Played Videogame Research Group," with Dr. Jim Brown (jim.brown@rutgers.edu)
- » "AI Ethics and the Law," with Dr. Nate Walker (nate.walker@rutgers.edu)

Unsure if you are research-ready?

To be research-ready, digital studies majors should take the following courses: 50:209:200 Digital Research Methods, 50:209:210 Multimedia Thinking, and 50:209:230 Creative Coding

Who are the faculty? What do they research? What are their interests?

- » Dr. Jesse Bayker (jesse.bayker@rutgers.edu): Preserving community histories in Camden, mapping the history of slavery in New Jersey, and tracing the development of anti-cross-dressing laws throughout the United States.
- » Dr. Jim Brown (jim.brown@rutgers.edu): Ethical and rhetorical dimensions of new media technologies
- » Dr. Robert A. Emmons Jr. (raemmons@rutgers.edu): Documentary Storytelling, Media Production (Digital and Retro), and Interactive Narratives
- » Dr. Allison Page (allison.page@rutgers.edu): Race and media culture, feminist media studies, digital technologies and labor
